CRUEL HOOLIGANS 'KICKED PET LIKE IT WAS FOOTBALL'

Appeal after youths seen abusing reptile in town park

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

ANIMAL welfare inspectors are appealing for help to find four youngsters who kicked a bearded dragon around a park in Harlow "like a football".

A horrified woman called the RSPCA when she saw the boys kicking the reptile to each other at Sumners Park near Milwards.

The animal is thought to have been kicked up into the air about 25 times, up to head height and was left paralysed after the attack.

The RSPCA's Emily Cheeseman said: "The witness saw the bearded dragon being kicked up into the air and crashing down onto the ground head first. It was like they were playing keepy-uppy with it."

Sickening

"This was a sickening, cowardly attack on a defenceless creature."

"It's horrible to think that these youngsters appear to be getting pleasure out of deliberately hurting an animal."

"It's really important that we find the youngsters who did this and would urge anyone with information to call us."

The attack happened about 10pm on Sunday, October 4.

The woman who saw the attack stepped in and rescued the injured lizard before calling the RSPCA for help. The bearded dragon was paralysed and was rushed straight to a vet where it was given pain relief.

She said: "I was walking my dog and I saw them kicking something and I heard them laughing. I thought it was a football or bean bag at first then I saw the tail. I walked a bit nearer and was sickened when I saw it was an animal."

"They were kicking it to head height and must have kicked it at least 25 times. I was horrified."

The dog walker ran over to the youngsters and told them to stop before taking the bearded dragon home where she called the police and RSPCA.

She added: "I wrapped him up, he wasn't able to move his legs or his tail. It was about half an hour before he opened his eyes."

Damage

An X-ray has revealed that the bearded dragon, who has been named Bruce by staff, had no broken bones although it is possible it may have suffered damage to its spine as he was unable to move his legs or tail immediately after the attack.

Robert Halfon MP joined members of Mecca Bingo in Harlow as well as Chief Executive of The Bingo Association Miles Baron to present the cheque.

Council to press ahead with Kier services switch

Call-in move over the cost of the plans fails

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

WORK to transfer housing repairs, street cleaning and grass cutting services to a new company owned by Harlow Council is back under way.

A decision was made by the Labour-run council's cabinet to transfer services currently operated by Kier Harlow Ltd to a Local Authority Trading Company in 2017, but was called in for scrutiny following complaints from Conservative councillors.

The council's call-in sub-committee met on Wednesday to consider the decision but decided not to take any further action. As a result, work will now restart on implementing the cabinet's original decision.

The council's current contract for the provision of services by Kier Harlow, which started in 2007, expires on January 31, 2017. It provides a range of frontline services including housing repairs and maintenance, repairs to council buildings, street cleaning, grass cutting, pest control, stray dog collection, repairs and maintenance to drainage, gullies and highways owned by the district authority.

An options appraisal was carried out by the council, including independent reports by consultants, as part of a review of the best way to providing these services.

The independent appraisal found an LATC represented the best value for money while maintaining the quality of services. The cost of the services will be funded within existing budgets at no extra cost to taxpayers, council tenants and council leaseholders.

Council leader Jon Clempner said: "Transferring services to a council-owned company gives us the flexibility to bring services back under our control while operating commercially. This is about making sure frontline services are provided well, while our residents get value for money.

"We also need to be in a position and have the flexibility to meet the financial uncertainties we face in future rather than being tied to a long-term financial contract."

But Conservative deputy leader Joel Charles said there was a "lack of evidence" that the move will achieve value for money.

He said: "We did not see a business case for the in-house option. This is a basic requirement for any new business venture."

"We were also disappointed at the lack of detail over how the company would be run, such as the total costs of the company chairman, and a new council director."

Deadline for town centre survey nears

A SURVEY for residents to have their say on the state of Harlow town centre will close on Tuesday.

The survey was produced by the Save Harlow Town Centre campaign group, which was launched by Harlow councillor Andrew Johnson.

Cllr Johnson, leader of the Conservative group, said: "We have been inundated with responses both via the Harlow Star website using the electronic survey and paper surveys."

"The response has been overwhelming and demonstrates what I have always known - that people in our town care greatly for our town."

The consultation so far has generated more than 250 responses and will close at midday on Tuesday.

"I would urge anyone who hasn't yet got in touch to do so," added Cllr Johnson.

To complete the survey visit www.harlowstar.co.uk.

Reptile 'kicked around park like a football'

■ From front page

Inspector Cheeseman said: "Bruce is being given the best possible care at the vets. He has made a slight improvement since he was admitted but he still hasn't moved one of his legs so we are waiting to see if he will recover or if he's suffered permanent injury."

"The woman who stepped in to help was incredibly brave and I'd like to publicly thank her for saving this bearded dragon."

"We would really like to know who he belongs to and also speak to the youngsters who attacked him as a matter of urgency."

The boys are described as being in their early teens, white and wearing tracksuits and hooded tops.

■ If anyone has any information about who owns the bearded dragon or who the youngsters are should call the RSPCA on 0300123 8018 and leave a message for Inspector Cheeseman.

Supported living health campaign goes smoothie

ADULTS with learning disabilities in Harlow are embarking on a fruitful adventure to get healthy by making smoothies.

Tenants at supported living accommodation Livingstone House, in Potter Street, Harlow, started the project to get more from their five-a-day.

The Sanctuary Group-run home has been providing fresh ingredients to residents for the initiative, which allows staff and tenants to work together.

Residents can choose a combination of their favourite fruits and vegetables and blend them together for a tasty treat. Livingstone House began the smoothie making to help provide the best balanced and good quality food possible.

Residents are enjoying their chance to get creative by blending whatever fruits take their fancy, whether it be a fig flavour or tangerine taste.

Leigh Carrigan, service manager of the house, said: "Smoothie making is part of our aim to promote wellbeing and encourage healthy eating across all of our services."

FRESH: Thelma Carter cuts up fruit for a healthy smoothie

"This is a fun way to engage our residents in a way that gives them a greater awareness of the healthy choices available."

"We hope that this will have a positive effect in other areas of their lives and the choices they make," Leigh added.

The project was funded by Sanctuary Group's community investment fund, which supports projects benefiting their residents and communities.

Gift charity's plea for a 10,000 box storage space

'Real and urgent need' for base to seal and check presents

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

A CHARITY is appealing for new premises to house their Christmas present appeal after losing half their shop space.

Samaritan's Purse Operation Christmas Child collect shoeboxes from residents filled with gifts, to be distributed to children in third world nations.

The popular appeal has previously been well supported from their base in West Gate, with nearly 40,000 shoeboxes exported in 2014.

But, organisers are fearing for the future of the appeal locally after losing the use of one half of their usual double shop front due to changes made by the Harvey Centre, who own the unit.

Bob Baker, a Samaritan's Purse volunteer, said: "Previously we have had two shop units where the shoeboxes are checked, sealed and placed in cartons ready for export."

Urgent

"We now only have one and there is a real and urgent need for the coming 2015 campaign."

"Any offers of assist to provide storage space in a warehouse would be gratefully received."

Storage of around 60 square meters is required to place 10,000 shoeboxes, which equates to a lorry load.

Other requirements are that the premises are in the Harlow area, available for two months from Monday, November 9, are dry and secure and can be accessed by a lorry.

Mr Baker said that property owners could benefit from allowing Samaritan's Purse to use their space - with a reduction in rates as charities are allowed 80 per cent relief. The national shoebox campaign distributes around 900,000 presents to parts of eastern Europe and Africa each year where children may not otherwise receive a Christmas present.

The appeal is backed by churches and schools in Harlow and east Hertfordshire.

The empty shop unit has been let to the charity for several years on a year-by-year basis.

A spokeswoman for the Harvey Centre said: "Operation Christmas Child is an extremely important cause and a partnership that is important to The Harvey Centre. We would welcome a discussion with them to ensure they have adequate space, support and anything further they need to continue to their work here."

Offers for warehouse use should be made to harlow.occ@gmail.com.

Little support for workers

SIR Robert Halfon loves Harlow and claims to be the champion of workers with his constant reference to the Conservatives being the "workers' party".

Unfortunately his love clearly does not extend to the workers of Harlow as his party is anything but a workers' party.

This is illustrated by Mr Halfon's appalling voting record when the issue of workers' rights comes up in front of the House of Commons.

On nine occasions he has voted against workers' rights.

He supported the Government's anti-strike laws, he backed public sector jobs cuts and a pay freeze, he agreed to the freezing of working age benefits and cutting tax credits, he supported the introduction of fees for employment tribunals, he opposed a review of zero hours contracts, he supported a cut to civil service redundancy pay, he backed the abolition of the Agricultural Wages Board, he supported cuts to legal aid and he opposed measures to close the gender pay gap.

I would be genuinely interested to hear from him and learn how his ongoing support for Tory policies that torment and persecute the working people of Harlow benefit anyone apart from the rich.

How can he defend his ludicrous "workers' party" claims?

Unfortunately, he is intelligent enough to know that if you repeat a lie enough times some will end up believing it.

Corbyn is an honest leader

SIR As a progressive non-aligned political thinker I despair to see the right wing MPs of the Labour Party colluding with the Conservatives against their new leader.

Most people accept that at last we have an honest man who, rather than seeking power, appears to be genuinely seeking to improve the lot of the most disadvantaged of our society.

Jeremy Corbyn is already a winner. He has widened political debate, challenging false assumptions which have brainwashed the public in the past. He has called for a more

READER'S photo

■ This week's photo was taken earlier this month by Viola Tam, of Ash Tree Field, Harlow, when she was out cycling with her brother and a friend. "When we returned from our trip we were astonished by the sun setting behind the clouds over the cricket pitch," she writes.

■ If you have a photo you would like featured, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description and details of where and when it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Please remember to include your name and address.

inclusive and less confrontational style of politics and has shown this in his selection of a shadow cabinet representing many shades of opinion to reflect the variety of those which make up the present Labour Party.

Yet old habits die hard. Already the political elite is squabbling about power, claiming that Corbyn has no chance of winning the election in five years time. Yet they were unable to correctly forecast the result of the last election on the day itself. How many of them imagined a few weeks ago that Corbyn would win the leadership? They clearly have little credibility in political forecasting so we should pay them little attention.

The task of the Labour Party is not at this stage to guess the outcome of the next election and adapt its policies to win it. In the next four years the Labour Party should be considering the state of our nation and engaging in debate with the public on issues that matter to them.

They should then present policies which will make life better and Britain fairer and then use all its resources to convince a disillusioned electorate, a third of which did not even bother to vote, to support them.

We should have learned by now that if there is anything worse than having the right ideas and losing, it is having the wrong ideas and winning.

Dennis Nadin
Willowfield, Harlow

Make most of precious time

SIR For many people, when the clocks go back it means an extra hour in bed.

But for those caring for a seriously ill child, that seemingly throwaway hour is incredibly precious.

I am asking your readers to use their extra hour when the clocks go back on (Sunday) October 25 to make a difference to families with a seriously ill child by backing Rainbow Trust's 'Big Hour' campaign.

Get your family, friends and colleagues involved in a teddy bear's picnic, bake sale, a round a golf or any activity that lasts just 60 minutes and make some lasting memories with those who matter while raising some much needed money for families in need.

The campaign runs from 19 - 25 October. Rainbow Trust provides emotional and practical support for families with a life threatened or terminally ill child.

For more information or to register your event visit www.rainbowtrust.org.uk/bighour.

Public should know details

SIR Since you kindly printed my letter on the council's plan to bring repairs and maintenance back in house, my phone has not stopped ringing, my inbox has been overwhelmed and my wife has threatened me with dire consequences if she has to continually field these calls now I am no longer a tenant representative.

For the second time since he has been at Harlow, Andrew Murray, Head of Housing, and his portfolio holder councillor Rod Truan, have disbanded participation.

If this council's administration is so convinced that a back door DLO (direct labour organisation) is what the residents want, then they should come clean and give us all the information (not propaganda) and the time to do the necessary research to come to an informed opinion, that's what's called consultation.

They could then test this at the coming May 2016 local elections.

Prospective councillors should also declare who their sponsors are, how much are they paid by them, and for what.

The council should under Co-Regulation and the Localism Act Engage, Involve, and Empower residents and our councillors should guarantee this.

Maybe this is something else that could be tested at the coming local elections.

It would be interesting to see which councillors will stand up for their residents, and which will hide behind their party whip.

Rundells, Harlow

Bin men who go extra mile

SIR I wish to publicly commend the bin men, who collect rubbish from Churchgate Street and surrounds.

Sitting at my desk of a Monday morning, I am always cheered by a friendly wave after they have emptied our bins.

On the odd occasion that we've left early for a meeting in London and forgotten to wheel the bin onto the pavement, they have taken the trouble to come and get it from where it sits a short way up our driveway.

I know others in our street have been grateful to them for going beyond the call of duty on occasion, and even if this were not the case, their good humour and excellent service would be worthy of mention.

AMAZING:

Emily Clements, 7, hopes to raise more than £500 with a walk she organised

Emily to raise money with 10-mile walk

A YOUNG girl has won the hearts of her family and teachers with her fundraising efforts.

Emily Clements, 7, will take part in a 10-mile walk to raise more than £500 for children's charity The Rainbow Trust.

The Downs Primary School pupil will walk from her home in Broadfield, Harlow, to her grandparents home at Sheering Mill Lane, Sawbridgeworth and back again, next Saturday.

Her mother Julie Clements will also take part, but the challenge was something Emily came up with. She has already been busy raising funds by holding a non-uniform day for her school.

Julie, 37, said: "I'm completely proud of her, it is unbelievable that she is seven years old and is giving up her pocket money for charity."

"She is amazing and I hope she can keep doing it."

Emily has been busy asking parents for contributions at the school gates, while also persuading neighbours to help the cause.

Julie added: "She came home from school one day and said they had been learning about British charities."

"She said she wanted to do something for The Rainbow Trust."

"She wanted to do a bake sale, but as that would mean a lot of work for me, she came up with the idea of a run and then a walk."

"I think she will be able to complete it, we are always out walking the dogs for miles and she is quite athletic."

Shopping centre owners to create eight new units

Harvey Centre buys former M&S shop

THE former Marks & Spencer store in Harlow will be transformed into eight shops after being snapped up by the owners of the Harvey Centre.

Addington Capital, in partnership with the shopping centre owners, plan to refurbish and redevelop the 60,000 sq ft space, which is split over three levels.

"We are delighted that this prominent town centre building has been acquired by the owners of the Harvey Centre and welcome their investment," said Harlow councillor Tony Durcan, portfolio holder for regeneration and enterprise.

"The council is committed to improving the vitality of Harlow Town Centre and this news, together with the opening of the new leisure scheme next year will have a huge, positive impact on the town centre."

The shop in Broad Walk was occupied by M&S for more than 40 years but was closed in January because, according to company bosses, it was no longer viable.

Addington want to reconfigure the space to provide a variety of units ranging in size from 1,500 sq ft to 30,000 sq ft. They hope the first new tenants will move in from spring 2016.

This is the latest deal for the centre, which Addington acquired in a joint venture in March 2011.

The new £10 million leisure development at the shopping centre, which will include a six-screen cinema is currently being constructed and is due to open in Christmas next year.

Alex Wagstaff, partner at Addington Capital, said: "We are delighted with the significant improvements we have been able to deliver so far in Harlow and this acquisition of the former M&S unit at the main entrance to the scheme, will enable us to invest in a prominent town centre property and provide further floorspace for quality retailers."

"We have had a fantastic response so far from national operators with more than 70 per cent of the floorspace already under offer. 2016 plans to be an exciting year for the shopping centre with the opening of these new retail units and the launch of the new leisure development."

In brief

Bright teenager up for an award

HARLOW: A student at the Sir Charles Kao University Technical College in Harlow has been nominated for an award in recognition of her achievements in science, technology, engineering and mathematics.

Sarah Horgan, aged 15, was one of the first to join the UTC in September last year and is one of three candidates up for a WISE Award.

The WISE ceremony, which will be held on November 12, celebrates the work of students leading the way in the subjects collectively known as STEM.

Sarah was nominated after achieving an A grade in her GCSE mathematics exam, which she took a year early.

She has aspirations to study at the Massachusetts Institute for Technology and hopes to become a designer in the future.

UTC principal Michael McKeaveney said: "I am incredibly proud of Sarah and all of her achievements with us. She is one of our best and brightest and she has an incredible future ahead of her."

The young visitors sat alongside students in science, technology and cooking classes at St Mark's West Essex Catholic School, in Tripton Road. There was also the opportunity for parents to tour classrooms.

PUPILS at a Harlow primary school are enjoying new surroundings following the opening of a new two-storey classroom block that has been built for the increased intake.

The Downs Primary and Nursery School's capacity has risen from 360 to 460 with a two-form entry now in place.

While the new seven-classroom building has been in use since the start of term, it was officially opened by town MP Robert Halfon at tree-planting ceremony on Friday.

Extension

The Downs has operated a two-form entry for three years but pupils have been accommodated in temporary classrooms while the new extension was built.

Headteacher Elisabeth Gelston said the opening of the new block represented a new beginning for the school.

"I'm delighted with the new building and the children absolutely love it," she said. "It is a major new structure that really makes this primary school fit for 2015."

CELEBRATION: Pupils at The Downs Primary School sing at ceremony held to unveil new classroom block

She added: "The building also contains a hall and currently holds the reception and Year 6. The Year 6 children are upstairs and they are enjoying the sense of status that comes with it."

Mr Halfon gave a short speech before planting the elm tree which was a symbolic choice to remember the same type of tree that formerly stood next to the school.

Mrs Gelston, who took over as headteacher a year ago when the building work had already begun, said she estimated the cost of the works to be £3m.

"We are very proud of the new unit, it has a very nice feel to it, she said. "The ventilation and space make it a very airy building which makes it a great learning environment."

Father's anger after daughter finds canisters

Laughing gas found by seven-year-old

William Mata

william.mata@hertssexnews.co.uk

A CONCERNED father is angry that "dangerous" laughing gas canisters were dumped near an area where his seven-year-old daughter plays.

Sean De Alwis, 48, said his daughter Nuala was playing with friends of a similar age in Wheelodon Grange, Harlow, when they discovered a box of nitrous oxide canisters in some shrubs.

The canisters were empty but Mr De Alwis is worried about what might have happened if they were not.

"I would never have expected this in such a quiet area," he said.

"There were several kids that were playing and some of the younger ones did not know what they were, but my daughter came running saying they'd found drugs."

"They showed me the box that someone had just dumped in the shrubs."

"Although the canisters were empty, I am concerned at what might have been. I'm sure they could be very dangerous," he added.

"I know children will always provoke each other into doing something stupid when they discover these things."

"I am feeling annoyed and upset. I am angry at whoever left them there."

Mr De Alwis, a teaching assistant, said he took the box from the children and contacted the police.

He was transferred to Environmental Health but when he discovered the small bottles did not contain any gas he was asked to dispose of them.

Nitrous oxide is not illegal to possess but can be dangerous, making the user lose balance, fall unconscious and in some cases has been known to be fatal.

Essex Police has advised against use of legal highs and recently banned laughing gas from being inhaled at Chelmsford's V Festival.

The police teamed up with Essex County Council to run a campaign called Just Say N20 to warn about the effects of taking nitrous oxide.

Cllr Anne Brown, county council cabinet member for communities and healthy living, said: "Legal highs or nitrous oxide can result in serious side effects, especially when combined with alcohol."

"Some contain illegal drugs and can lead to serious medical emergencies and even death."

PEDAL POWER: Harlow MP Robert Halfon meets Lee Valley Cycles owner David Wales at the opening

New cycling shop is off to flying start

A NEW and improved cycling shop has got off to a sprint start since moving to a larger premises.

Lee Valley Cycles was officially re-opened by Harlow MP Robert Halfon after moving from behind The Stow into the main section of the precinct.

Business owner David Wales, 54, said the shop has seen a 100 per cent increase in footfall since the relocation.

"It has been very busy," said Mr Wales.

"People did not know a bike shop was here before, but now people are coming out of the bakery and into here."

The premises are eight times bigger than the previous shop, which Mr Wales, a former national level mountain biker, had been in since 2012.

"Mr Halfon came and said a few words to open the shop," added Mr Wales.

"He didn't cut the ribbon or anything as I was in a rush to get everything open in time."

"We have been going from strength to strength since we have re-opened."

Free meals scrapped but pay rise is agreed

COUNTY councillors will soon eat their last free supper after agreeing to scrap their complimentary meals.

But, County Hall did compensate for the change by raising the yearly allowances of leaders and cabinet members as well as the basic allowances for all members.

The decision was made after an independent report found Essex County Council forked out £16,000 on free meals for councillors in 2014/15 and more than £25,000 in 2013/14.

Opposition councillors backed the report's recommendation to stop ECC paying for members to eat at the County Hall restaurant in Chelmsford.

At present members are allowed to dine on approved duties, council meetings and matters of council business.

Responding to the report, compiled by the Independent Remuneration Panel, county council leader David Finch, of the ruling Conservative group, agreed to the terms on condition that basic allowances were raised and he, as leader, will now have a yearly allowance of £54,000. Other cabinet members will have allowances ranging from £13,500 to £42,000, with the basic allowances set at £12,000 per annum.

A County Hall spokesman said: "The leader will require any councillor who is appointed to be on an external body to forgo any additional allowances."

"The leader and other members are likely to voluntarily waive their right to any overall increase to their total remuneration package that would otherwise be payable to them under the new scheme."

"Lunches will continue to be made available on county council meeting days to all councillors at their own expense."

"This will deliver a saving of approximately £22,000 per annum."

However, Mike Mackrory, the leader of the rival Liberal Democrat group, said: "The Conservative decision to over-ride the recommendations and award half their group a pay rise will leave most Essex residents with a nasty taste in their mouth."

PROUD: The Harlow winner's at the Jack Petchey Crystal Award ceremony in London

Awards for youth groups who help put town on map

ELEVEN Harlow youth organisations were honoured with a Jack Petchey Crystal Award and a cash prize at a ceremony in London.

The awards, which fund and support thriving youth projects in London and Essex, helped to put the town on the map for services offered to young people.

Held earlier this month, the swanky ceremony took place at City Hall in central London.

Performance groups Razed Roof and Harlow Rock School were among the winners to be given the crystal award and a cheque for £1,500. In total 150 organisations from across the region were given a crystal award.

Other Harlow groups included Hip Hop Pop, Harlow Ballet, Makin' Steps, Phoenix Theatre, Live Wire Trust, Harlow Steel Band, BATTs, Reiken Karate and All Ability Sports.

Annette Lidster, chair of trustees at Razed Roof, said: "We welcome the invaluable, ongoing support given by the Jack Petchey Foundation. Our charity is honoured to have been chosen for this prestigious award."

A spokesman from Harlow Rock School said: "We are delighted to be chosen for an award."

"We will use the £1,500 towards an event to celebrate all the local youth organisations."

Chance for public to honour soldiers

Details of where parade will march are released

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

TROOPS from the Royal Anglian Regiment 1st Battalion will exercise their Freedom of Harlow for the first time next week.

More than 200 soldiers returning from active duty in Afghanistan will march through Harlow town centre on Thursday, October 22.

The day will also be a time for Harlow to remember resident Private Robert Foster, who was tragically killed in Afghanistan while serving with the 1st Battalion.

Councillor Tony Hall, chairman of Harlow Council, said: "I hope as many people as possible line the route to thank and cheer our troops for their bravery and service and welcome them home, but also to remember Robert Foster and those troops who are no longer with us."

This will be the first time the Regiment has exercised the Freedom of the Town since it was granted by Harlow Council in September 2012.

The last soldiers from the 1st Battalion known as 'The Vikings' returned home from Kabul on 19 August 2015 after the conclusion of their deployment on Operation Toral.

After leave the soldiers will be celebrating their homecoming with three parades in the Battalion's counties. These are St Neots on October 20, Norwich on October 21, and Harlow on October 22.

Afghanistan

Since the turn of the century, the group has served in Afghanistan five times, in 2002, 2007, 2009, 2012 and 2015. They also served in Iraq in 2005.

Before the middle-eastern assaults the battalion has served in Bosnia, Croatia, Northern Ireland and Belize.

While on their tour of Afghanistan the troops were deployed to provide security to UK and NATO troops, in a non-combat role.

The council is urging as many people as possible to show their pride in the troops and celebrate their homecoming.

Cllr Hall added: "This will be an important occasion for Harlow and at a time when the soldiers have just returned home from active service."

About 250 troops are expected to march from Post Office Road, through Broad Walk to the Civic Centre where they will be inspected.

The march will be the second group of soldiers to pass through Harlow in recent years after the Essex Yeomanry exercised its right in April 2009.

Parade road closures and route information

- The Regiment will begin their march from the post office car park at 12.30pm.
- The walk will move along through the Broad Walk, past the library and onto the Water Gardens.
- Soldiers will take part in a parade and inspection once they reach the Water Gardens - which will be the climax to the march.
- Harlow Council is encouraging visitors but have warned large numbers of people are expected to attend. Visitors are encouraged to line the whole route.
- Some roads will be closed in the town centre and motorists are encouraged to be mindful of any possible delays.
- College Square will be closed from 9am - 5pm and roads will be closed in Post Office Road and East Gate.
- Post Office Road car park will be closed to the public from 6pm on Wednesday, October 21 until 1pm on Thursday, October 22. Disabled parking outside Adams House and East Gate will be suspended from 8am to 2pm. All other town centre car parks will be open.
- Small delays are expected for bus passengers - with access to the bus station restricted.

Volunteers will travel to France to help migrants in refugee crisis

A CAMPAIGN group is standing up to the migrant crisis by delivering donations to refugees in Calais.

Setting off from Harlow Playhouse in Harlow on Saturday, the 20-strong group will travel to northern France to help the 3,000 stranded refugees.

The convoy will meet with French aid organisations L'Auberge Des Migrants and Secours Catholique to deliver donations collected in Harlow, Stevenage and Theydon Bois.

Donations handed out will include winter clothes, shoes, first aid supplies and tinned food.

The Harlow to Calais trip is being organised by campaign group Stand Up to Racism and will include volunteers from all over the country.

Chief organiser Adam Cochrane said: "We want as many people as possible to come to the rally on Saturday morning. People of different ages, races, and faiths to show the best side of Harlow; diverse, united and compassionate."

Also among the convoy will be Harlow councillor Emma Toal, and Herts and Essex Farm co-ordinator Elliot Wollen.

Volunteer Jasmine O'Brien, who works at Princess Alexandra Hospital, said: "The amazing amount of donations we have received clearly shows that the people of Harlow stand in solidarity with the refugees."

Before the convoy depart on the trip they will rally in the town centre to raise awareness of the crisis.

Maz Saleem of Stand Up to Racism said: "Our brothers and sisters are fleeing persecution, war and seeking refuge for safety."

"We need to all stand up to racism and help our brothers and sisters."

Charity goal of mum with rare disorder

Former nurse wants to raise awareness

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

A MOTHER battling a rare medical disorder is hoping to turn the foundation she set up into a registered charity.

Mum-of-two Gemma Holtby, 33, of Potter Street, Harlow, was diagnosed in 2012 with very long-chain acyl-CoA dehydrogenase deficiency, or VLCAD for short.

It means her body is prevented from converting certain fats to energy, particularly during periods without food. Symptoms of VLCAD deficiency include low blood sugar, lack of energy and muscle weakness.

Some people with the condition, which is hereditary, are also at risk from complications such as liver abnormalities and heart problems.

Signs of VLCAD usually appear during infancy or early childhood but Gemma was not diagnosed until later in life. As a result she has had to give up her job as a nurse and now needs to use a wheelchair when she goes out.

"I hate not being able to do my job any more," she said, "Living with this disorder can be very lonely and while I have my family to support me it is good to be in contact with other sufferers of VLCAD."

Shortly after her diagnosis she started up a Facebook page as part of an appeal to find fellow sufferers and was quickly put in contact with Laura Linford, whose son Jack died last year from VLCAD.

Together, Gemma and Laura set up The Metabolic Foundation earlier this year and are now working hard to raise awareness of the disorder and also support other people affected by it. Their next goal is to turn it into a registered charity.

Condition

"It has been good to find someone who has been affected by the same condition," said Gemma. "Laura and I have grown really close."

"We have had a great response to the foundation and people from America and China have been in touch. We have given them the support they need."

"Recently we held an online fundraising push in association with Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge, which helps treat VLCAD, and we raised £300."

"I hope that we can become a charity to spread the message further," added Gemma.

Heart 4 Harlow Business and Community Awards ceremony

Glittering awards night celebrating our unsung heroes

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

COMMUNITY leaders and council dignitaries rubbed shoulders with the town's unsung heroes at the Heart 4 Harlow Business and Community Awards on Thursday.

Held to celebrate the spirit of Harlow, the awards were presented during a ceremony at the Manor of Groves Hotel.

More than 350 people, including Harlow MP Robert Halfon and Harlow Council leader Jon Clempner, attended the event which, for the first time, was held in conjunction with Harlow and District Chamber of Commerce.

Blessings

Town chaplain Robert Findlay organised the proceedings and hosted the ceremony while the Bishop of Chelmsford, the Rt Rev Stephen Cottrell, started the evening by saying grace.

Mr Findlay said the awards were a testament to what he described as an "exciting time" for Harlow.

"We are celebrating because Harlow has had many blessings in recent months," he said. "One of the best blessing to come to our town in recent months is Public Health England and this follows the exciting developments at the Harlow Enterprise Zone."

TOP OF SHOPS: Tesco's Diane Harper with Derek Oakley

FLOWER POWER: Winner Christine Smith of Flower Box

He added: "The hope now is for more houses in the town, but right now we are joining in our celebration for the progress taking place."

Bishop Stephen said: "People say you can never say no to Robert, but this was an easy invitation to say yes to. It is an exciting time for Harlow and I'm proud to be bishop of one of the most vibrant areas of the country."

After a three-course meal, Mr Findlay and the bishop then handed glass trophies to the 16 community award winners.

Categories

Awards were presented to groups and individuals across four categories comprising civic and community activities, good neighbours, charity and education and sport and art.

The winners were chosen by a selection committee, which included Harlow Star news editor Gemma Gardner.

The winners of the Harlow Business Awards were announced by Harlow Chamber of Commerce manager Ian Hudson, who said the aim was to celebrate excellence in trade and services.

A long list of 52 businesses and individuals were whittled down to a final 25 across eight categories. The winners were then announced and presented with

SMILES: Sally Mardell of Bella Rose with, right, Leonore Lord of NWES their trophies.

Mr Hudson said: "This is the first time that the Harlow Business Awards have been held in conjunction with Heart 4 Harlow. I would like to thank Robert Findlay for asking us to be part of it and also the businesses and individuals who put names forward for awards.

"While I will congratulate the winners, I would like everyone on the shortlist to think of themselves as a winner."

Hospice sheds demolished to make way for two-storey block

Ken Morley

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

LONG-SERVING fundraiser Pat Prior donned a hard hat when she helped demolish two dilapidated sheds at St Clare Hospice at the start of work to construct new office accommodation and storage space.

Following rapid growth in services over the past four years, and a threefold increase in the number of people being cared for, the Hastingswood-based hospice was granted permission to replace the sheds at the rear of its site with a two-storey building.

Pat was joined by St Clare chief executive Tanya Curry and Bob Weston, chief executive of Weston Homes which has been appointed to undertake the construction project, to start the demolition work.

"The sheds were only ever meant to be temporary but they've been in use for almost 20 years and are now no longer fit for purpose so the demolition was long overdue," said Pat.

"Although it was nerve-racking to get behind the controls of the digger, it was extremely satisfying to finally see them go to make way for the new building."

Mr Weston added: "The demolition of the sheds, marks the beginning of an exciting process to build the new facilities for St Clare Hospice and it is fantastic to see the works under way at the site.

DOWN THE COME:

Above, Pat Prior at the controls of the digger used to demolish the sheds. Left, an artist's impression of the new office/storage building

The building will have space to store clinical equipment and fundraising resources on the ground floor as well as dedicated facilities for the maintenance and gardening teams, while the upper floor will provide an open plan office for some of the hospice's essential support and administrative staff.

The car park is also being expanded to create additional spaces, along with extra disabled bays closer to the site entrance.

Construction is due to be completed in the spring.

"St Clare Hospice do such important work for the local community and I am proud to be able to support them in this endeavour."

The new facilities will mean St Clare will be able to free up space in its main building for its expanding community, day therapy and family support teams as well as bring its retail team back on site from rented accommodation.

Farmer's mammoth discovery

If you have seen any of the Ice Age films you will know what a woolly mammoth looks like. They are a large elephant-type animal that lived many thousands of years ago.

Now the bones of one of these magnificent creatures have been found on a farm in America. Farmer Jim Bristle was carrying out some building work on his land when he made the exciting discovery.

Experts from the University of Michigan were called in to dig up what remains of the animal's skeleton. This included the skull and two tusks as well as number of ribs and both shoulder blades.

It is believed the bones are from an adult male mammoth which lived between 12,000 and 15,000 years ago.

Mammoths, which were covered in thick hair to help them survive freezing conditions during the Ice Age and massive tusks which they used to defend themselves, once roamed the wide open spaces of North America before they became extinct.

Farmer Jim's find has captured the imagination of local residents and hundreds of people have been to visit the farm to see the excavation.

"I'm just so glad to see the enthusiasm and it's not just from the kids," he said. "The adults who come out here are overwhelmed by this. I guess I'm a bit overwhelmed by it also."

He has donated the bones to a museum where they will be studied and put on display.

"A lot of people will benefit from being able to see this mammoth for many years to come," he told reporters.

In brief

Support for sufferers of pancreatic cancer

PANCREATIC cancer patients and their families are getting help from a new support service at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

The Harlow hospital will provide sufferers with specialist nurses, dieticians, oncology doctors as well as supportive staff to talk to and financial aid.

Any extra services on offer will be a valuable aid to sufferers of pancreatic cancer, which is statistically the most deadly type of the disease.

Post diagnosis, sufferers will only live for an average of four to six months while only three per cent of those diagnosed will survive for five years.

The new service was launched by former PAH chairman Gerald Coteman, who has since taken a post at the Cambridge Pancreatic Care Centre.

Mr Coteman stepped down from the role in 2011 after losing his wife Elizabeth to pancreatic cancer and set up the Elizabeth Coteman Fund in her memory.

Charity events help to buy revolutionary device

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

A REVOLUTIONARY piece of equipment is providing a crucial service at Princess Alexandra Hospital thanks to the fundraising efforts of two mums.

Acuvein has been installed in the children's Dolphin Ward of the Hamstel Road hospital, and it will be particularly useful for treating younger patients, who can find invasive procedures stressful and upsetting.

Sometimes it can be difficult for a doctor to pin-point a vein, but the new equipment helps speed up the procedure by identifying suitable veins more quickly.

Sara Evans, of Old Harlow, and Denise Handleigh, of Bush Fair, raised almost £5,000 through a range of events that have included a curry evening and quiz night, to buy the Acuvein.

Both mums have children who have struggled with having injections while on the Dolphin Ward and feel the new equipment could be a great aid.

Sara's five-year-old daughter Evie has Downs Syndrome and has difficulty coping being injected.

"Evie had so many injections and cannulas when she was treated on the Dolphin Ward that I would have done anything to make it easier for her," said Sara.

"I heard about the Acuvein and told my friend Denise about it, and we decided there and then to start fundraising.

"We think this equipment is amazing

and we are delighted to see it being used on the ward."

Denise became involved after her son Stanley was also treated on the ward.

She felt a need to make a stint in hospital an easier experience for more young people.

"It is incredible how this equipment can be used to show up my veins so clearly," said Denise.

"It would have been great if this equipment was available when Stanley was at the hospital."

She added: "I'd love to purchase another one of these machines, or something similar, for the neonatal unit.

"Perhaps we've found our next fundraising challenge."

Denise and Sara have not formally announced a new campaign, but still have their online fundraising page remains open for any donations to the hospital or future projects.

You can support their fundraising by visiting the page at, www.justgiving.com/acuveinfunder.

Social media campaign to boost battle against cancer

A SOCIAL media campaign called #BestiesForBreasties has been launched to boost funds to fight breast cancer.

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month and the breast unit charity at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust is asking people to post a photo of themselves with their best friend on Facebook, Twitter or Instagram and tag the hashtag #BestiesForBreasties.

When they do, they should text PAHT99 £5 to 70070 and this will donate £5 to the unit. They are also asked to nominate two friends to share their own picture with the hashtag and encourage them to text.

Helena Williams, from Sawbridgeworth, a long-term supporter of the charity, came up with the idea and was the first to post her photo with her 12-year-old daughter Claudia.

She said: "October is breast cancer awareness and many great supporters are raising funds by holding coffee mornings and doing other activities, but not everyone has time for that. By texting they can donate £5 straight away and by posting a photo they spread the word further."

She said some participants are posting pictures with their pets.

"It doesn't have to be too serious, it can be humorous. It could be a crowd or it could be with your dog or cat," Helena added.

People who text will get an acknowledgement text from PAH and the option to give Gift Aid to add 25 per cent to their donation.

The unit serves a population of more than 300,000 with over 300 new cases diagnosed every year.

Art is in the bag

OPPOSITES attract in a new exhibition that brings artists of different styles and backgrounds together to celebrate Essex.

Harlow sculptor Amanda Westbury has joined up with Elaine Tribble for Routed Through Essex which takes over the Gibberd Gallery this month.

"Routed Through Essex was a catalyst for us getting together," said Elaine.

"We both work in quite different ways. I'm very focused on 2D design and sculpture whereas Amanda creates larger 3D pieces.

"It has been an interesting collaboration that has taken us the best part of the year to complete.

The pair will join three other local odd-couples in Jon Lewis and Janette Lazell, Hannah Stageman and Cara Jean Flynn and Lisa Temple-Cox and David Watkins.

It is rare for artists to work in pairs in this fashion which is why the Essex Network of Artist's Studios came up with the idea.

The result is an interesting and quirky collection of work that fuses a wide variety of art forms found around the county.

Elaine, who is based in Chelmsford, said she met Amanda in Ongar to work on the exhibition, and the town became their inspiration.

Elaine and Amanda have crossed paths before, but this is the first large scale collaboration they have attempted.

For Elaine, it is the first time she has seriously worked with another artist at all.

"ENAS organised the collection and asked artists to collaborate with artists from different studios, and as me and Amanda know each other it seemed a logical choice.

"She works in Gatehouse Studios in Harlow and I'm based in Hive Studios in Chelmsford, but we were attracted to Ongar.

"We were fascinated by how the history of the town blends in with the modern culture as it's one of the places The Only Way is Essex is filmed."

After setting up their base, the pair then set to work on a collection of exhibits on themes inspired by what they found in Ongar.

Under the project name of Rich Tea, Elaine and Amanda's collaboration is equally fuelled by Ongar of the past and the present.

"We took an interest in souvenirs," said Elaine.

"We looked at how the concept of souvenirs has changed over the years into mass production.

"What we wanted to do was create a souvenir for Ongar, something that reflected the past with works based on local characters and hidden histories.

"Equally we wanted the work to reflect the Ongar culture of present that we identified to involve a lot of sitting down, socialising and drinking tea."

Elaine added Rich Tea by name is also rich tea by nature with the artists making their own tea bags in memory of Ongar legends.

Among those remembered is Father Thomas Byles, who was a priest in Ongar before famously remaining on board the sinking Titanic to give last confessions.

His flavour tea contains the essence of cardamom, according to Elaine.

However, the project is not just a piece of cake (and tea) with long, painstaking efforts put in to perfect their vision for what an Ongar souvenir would look like.

The result of their collaborative work, which began in early 2015, is a number of items of memorabilia that perfectly sum-up the town.

Elaine said she is particularly fond of a silver tea-set created with a nod to the coffee shop culture of the present town.

Alongside the Ongar memoirs sit a large collection of work in a huge variety of forms.

Routed Through Essex also includes photography, sketches, modern media techniques and traditional paintings.

Be sure to keep an eye out for the works of David Watkins and Lisa Temple-Cox whose collection 'Connections and Tensions' invites visitors to consider the impact of where people live in Essex through 3D installations.

Meanwhile Hannah Stageman and Cara-Jean Flynn took inspiration from walks around Epping Forest. The spirit, history and destruction of the forest are all combined feelings channelled into a very modern take on woodwork design.

Jon Lewis and Janette Lazell combined their efforts to create Cloud – a journey through light and colour that is brought to life through impressive glass structures. The huge composition is made up of 1,000 individual shapes suspended in close proximity and lit from within. The transparent and reflective surfaces of the shapes disperse light to create an atmospheric cloud like form.

■ Routed Through Essex is open from Monday-Friday from 9am-4.45pm in the Gibberd Gallery at Harlow Civic Centre in The Water Gardens until Friday, October 23. For more information visit www.gibberdgallery.co.uk.

Cracking night out

IS October too soon to be celebrating Christmas? Not when you can see a festive production of The Nutcracker performed by Russian State Ballet and Opera House back at Harlow Playhouse for one night only.

Directed and choreographed by former Bolshoi Theatre Dancer, Konstantin Uralsky, the impressive ensemble of dancers will be backed up by a live 30-piece orchestra.

Company chief executive Alexej Ignatow said the audience is in for a treat when a Christmas classic comes to town.

"The ballet is very well suited to Harlow and we always get a full house," he said.

"It is a joy to perform there."

"Tickets are already going fast as everybody wants to be a part of the experience," he added.

With a single performance on Thursday, October 22, an air of exclusivity will add to the must-see appeal of the show.

Anyone fortunate to have a ticket can appreciate being one of a small number who will ever see such a complete performance in the town.

Based on The Nutcracker and the Mouseking, a story written by ETA Hoffman, the Christmas ballet is one of Tchaikovsky's most famous compositions.

It tells the story of Marie, a sad little girl, whose godfather Drosselmeyer gives her a nutcracker doll as a present on Christmas Eve which turns into a prince.

Since The Nutcracker was written in 1892 it has been performed all over the world, and is perhaps the best known ballet on the circuit.

Alexej said the familiarity of the ballet only adds to its appeal.

"Everybody who comes to see the ballet already knows the story," said the 35-year-old.

"It is a magical tale and puts you right into the Christmas spirit.

"I think the audience are going to love it, especially as this will be the first performance with an orchestra we've done in Harlow," added Alexej.

While the company has staged ballets at Harlow Playhouse before, this will be the first time a live orchestra have accompanied the dancing.

The highly accessible list of songs includes classics such as The Spanish Dance, The Arabian Dance, The Waltz of Flowers, The Russian Dance, The Chinese Dance and The Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy.

Alexej said: "While it's a story that you may have seen performed before – with the orchestra it will be a completely new experience.

"It's completely different without the orchestra and it is never just the same with a tape.

"The live music is amazing and really brings the show to life."

While the tale is more than 120 years old, the breath taking dancing and stunning orchestral numbers help to make it as spell-binding today as it was when it was first performed.

Alexej feels that having a Russian cast also gives the play an authenticity with performances that can be reproduced but never matched.

"This time of year is very busy for the company, and we all have very busy schedules.

"We have dancers coming over from Russia for a few shows before going back home."

The Canterbury-based company has been touring all over the UK for the past few weeks and will continue throughout the remainder of the year.

They have also been performing Don Quixote and Swan Lake as well as The Nutcracker.

"It is easy to change from one to the other as the dancers know all three shows so well," said Alexej.

"There is no danger of getting mixed up," he laughs.

Despite having lived in the UK for eight years, Alexej has lost nothing of his passion for Russian culture, which he can only describe as "the best".

He also oversees the opera part of the company, which has already been to Harlow this season.

Verdi's La Traviata was performed in September, and despite the Playhouse audiences being more accustomed to tribute rock bands and pantomimes, the opera went down a storm.

"One of the reasons I'm so confident about the ballet is because the opera went so well in Harlow," he said of their debut performance at the Playhouse.

"The opera was received amazingly and it was a great performance.

"But now the time has come to turn our attention to ballet and I can't wait for the Harlow audiences to see The Nutcracker.

"I'm sure they will love it."

The Nutcracker will be performed by the Russian State Ballet and Opera House at Harlow Playhouse on Thursday, October 22. Tickets cost £32.50 from www.playhouseharlow.com or the box office on (01279) 431945.

Feisty rebels with a cause

Suffragette

DRAMA: (12A) 106 minutes
Director: Sarah Gavron
Starring: Carey Mulligan, Anne-Marie Duff, Helena Bonham Carter, Meryl Streep, Ben Whishaw, Brendan Gleeson, Natalie Press

More than 100 years after activist Emily Wilding Davison drew global attention to women's suffrage by dying beneath the hooves of King George V's horse at the Epsom Derby, Sarah Gavron's awards-tipped drama pays tribute to some of the trailblazers who laid their lives on the line in the name of equality.

Davison is a peripheral character in Suffragette and her shocking act of self-sacrifice is relegated to the denouement of Abi Morgan's script, which chooses to view the rebellion through the tear-stained eyes of a fictional heroine.

Historical fact and impassioned dramatic licence are awkward bedfellows.

The latter delivers the most emotional wallops as female protagonists suffer physical and mental abuse for daring to stand up for their beliefs.

Prison scenes are grim, but it's one simple domestic scene of a family torn apart behind closed doors which really cuts to the bone.

Carey Mulligan is destined for a Best Actress nomination at next year's Academy Awards for her gut-wrenching portrayal of a mother who loses everything she holds dear - because she absolutely refuses to walk in a man's shadow.

The London-born actress bares her soul for the emotionally demanding role, flanked by impressive supporting turns from Anne-Marie Duff and Helena Bonham Carter.

In 1912 London, Maud Watts (Mulligan) works long hours in a laundry with her husband Sonny (Ben Whishaw), under the glare of manager Norman Taylor (Geoff Bell).

Women earn less than men and are denied the vote, which ranks some of the workforce including outspoken mother Violet Miller (Duff).

She encourages Maud to join the suffragette movement and speak up against this injustice at a parliamentary panel hosted by David Lloyd George (Adrian Schiller).

Alas, MPs refuse to honour a voting-rights bill amendment, so Emmeline Pankhurst (Meryl Streep) stirs her troops into direct action.

"I would rather be a rebel than a slave," she bellows to loyal lieutenants including pharmacist Edith Ellyn (Bonham Carter) and Emily Wilding Davison (Natalie Press).

For all its narrative restraint, Gavron's picture still moves and energises, reminding us that the fight for basic human rights continues to rage in progressive societies around the world.

ESTABLISHED in 2011 in partnership with Essex County Council and Harlow District Council, Hub + Spoke was set up in Bush Fair, Harlow, to promote cycling in and around the town and to deliver training and education within the local community.

It aims to help people start cycling for leisure and fitness, to improve health and well-being and provide training and education while protecting the environment at the same time.

Since it opened, council funding has been reduced and Hub + Spoke has been forced to reconsider the way it was run.

Senior mechanic Stephen Collins explains: "We have had to take a more business-like approach to the way in which we operate. We had to shrink rapidly, but I'm optimistic that from here we can expand our support."

Led rides, cycle maintenance and training courses, servicing and repairs are just some of the services available at Hub + Spoke. As a not for profit community interest company, any profit made by Hub + Spoke is reinvested back into the community.

"People donate bikes free of charge and we strip them and rebuild them to re-sell at a reduced cost which offers locals an affordable way into cycling," added Steve.

All servicing and repairs are carried out in Hub + Spoke's fully-equipped workshop by qualified staff and no job is too big or too small. Whether you need a puncture repair (£10 with new inner tube), new wheels building or a full strip, clean and rebuild, these experts can help.

The Hub + Spoke shop stocks a range of affordable essentials, from lights and mudguards to locks and cycle clothing, as well as parts and accessories.

There are new bicycles for sale, as well as recycled bikes and the shop is an agent for Dawes Cycles and Surly Bikes.

All staff and volunteers are cyclists with experience across many cycling disciplines, so can help you decide which bike is best for the type of riding you want to do, at a price that is right for you.

If you're feeling a little apprehensive about riding in a group or you are getting back on the bike after a long time or after an injury or illness, Hub + Spoke is the place to come. Why not try a one-to-one session with a ride leader? They can help you gain or regain confidence and stamina on your bike.

Hub + Spoke is open Wednesday to Saturday 10am to 4pm.

Design is fine for Frances

THERE'S only so long you can talk, in everyday life, about how much cinnamon you like in your buns before someone's like, 'OK, enough'," says Frances Quinn with a laugh.

The former Jools designer is giddily recalling the joy of spending a summer in the Great British Bake Off tent, nattering with her fellow bakers, who were all as obsessed with ingredients as she is.

Despite weekly digs from judges Paul Hollywood and Mary Berry for going all out on style, sometimes at the expense of substance, Quinn still claimed the Bake Off crown in 2013, and since then has created a slew of tasty public masterpieces – including piano shortbread for Jools Holland, a giant Club biscuit surrounded with sweet Bombay mix for indie band Bombay Bicycle Club, and even a cheesecake inspired by Matisse.

Now, finally, the 33-year-old is releasing her first book, aptly named Quintessential Baking and packed full of cakes and sweet treats.

"I suppose the book is like my baking: that mix of baking and design, so the ingredients are as important as the ideas," she says.

Born in Northampton, Quinn was baking by age five, and spent hours in her father's bookshop in Market Harborough – where she still lives – pouring over Quentin Blake's illustrations and Roald Dahl's fantastical tales ("That stuff really did capture my imagination").

It wasn't until she began working at Jools as a childrenswear designer, that making cakes for friends turned into blogging about cakes, and then one particular bake – a secret squirrel cake made for a very pregnant colleague – had the entire office clamouring for her to sign up for Bake Off.

"Everyone was like, 'Oh my God!', when I cut into that cake and there was a squirrel inside it. That was where it took a real creative slant," she remembers. "It's just snowballed from there."

Quintessential Baking is, of course, unapologetically heavy on the design front.

"I think that was the thing with 'style over substance'," Quinn says ruefully. "If I had gone, 'OK, I'm going to completely

MMMM! Coffee shot cup cakes ignore the design and the creative part of my brain'. I always thought I may as well have left the Bake Off tent, because I wouldn't have been being true to myself as a baker."

Nothing compares to the levels of stress she experienced in the Bake Off tent.

"It was literally pandemonium, it was just insane," she recalls. "The tent is just mocked up, so the floor is really bumpy and bouncy because you'd got so many camera guys running around."

"I remember when we were doing egg custard tarts, the floor was literally a bouncy castle!"

COFFEE SHOT 'CUP' CAKES (MAKES 12 CAKES)

3tbsp instant coffee
 3tbsp boiling water
 3tbsp whole milk
 150g butter
 150g light muscovado sugar
 3 eggs
 150g self-raising flour

150g walnuts, toasted and chopped

For the coffee syrup:

1/2tbsp instant coffee
 50ml boiling water
 50g caster sugar
 1/2tbsp coffee liqueur

For the topping:

250g mascarpone
 Few drops of vanilla extract
 50g icing sugar
 Dash of milk or cream
 Cocoa powder (to decorate)

Preheat the oven to 180C/Gas 4. Line a 12-hole muffin tin with espresso-sized paper cups.

Mix the coffee with the hot water, then stir in the milk. Set aside to cool.

Beat the butter and sugar together until very light and creamy. The mixture will turn from a rich toffee brown, to a pale cafe-au-lait shade.

Beat the eggs together and gradually add to the creamed butter and sugar mixture, beating well after each addition. Sift in the flour and fold until just combined, then stir in the chopped walnuts.

Spoon the mixture into the paper cups and bake for 15-20 minutes.

While the cakes bake, make the syrup. Put the coffee in a small pan, add the boiling water and stir to dissolve the granules. Stir in the sugar.

Set the pan over a medium heat and bring to the boil. Reduce the heat and simmer gently for a few minutes or until the sugar is completely dissolved and you are left with a runny syrup. Remove from the heat and stir in the liqueur, if using.

Once the cakes are baked, remove from the oven and leave to cool in the tin for five minutes.

During this time, prick them all over with a cocktail stick and brush over the coffee syrup using a paint or pastry brush.

Remove the cakes from the tin, still in their cups, and leave to cool completely on a wire rack.

Beat the mascarpone, vanilla and icing sugar together until creamy, adding a dash of milk or cream if necessary. Spoon some on to each cake and decorate with cocoa.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Six appeals as Walden are put to the sword

Harlow have summit to shout about after big victory

East Men's Hockey League Division Six South East

Harlow . . . . . 6
Saffron Walden . . . . . 1

REJUVENATED Harlow had summit to shout about after hitting Saffron Walden for six on Saturday.

The 6-1 victory over their Essex rivals – courtesy of four goals from the prolific forward Andy Boughtwood – took the side clear at the top of Division Six South East on goal difference.

Having had a few years of struggle, which saw the second men's team axed, Harlow certainly appear to have rediscovered their mojo.

At the heart of Saturday's win was the strong pressing game which Harlow have developed this year and is really paying dividends.

Within the first ten minutes Harlow opened the scoring. Joe Symonds provided the assist from a penalty corner to Boughtwood who struck home his first.

The second came again from Boughtwood, this time Ben Light assisted the striker who rifled home a shot off the inside of a post.

Scenario

As Harlow continued to press and the half drew to a close, an all too familiar scenario unfolded, Saffron Walden broke on the counter and scored a very sloppy goal.

Harlow knew they had to respond immediately and defender James Morris turned provider as his mazy run into the D ended with a pass to Boughtwood for his third.

The fourth followed in quick succession and once again Morris provided a neat threaded ball for Rhys Mace at the far post.

The fifth and Boughtwood's last of the game was another masterclass move building from the midfield, as he slipped right to Cyrus Mace who returned the ball for the striker who made no mistake.

The final goal came five minutes from time as Benn Hagger's surging run from deep left the opposition trailing in his wake and he found Solo Castillo to roll it home under the advancing keeper.

Rhys Mace said: "We made good on our promise last week to build on the defeat to Clacton, however frailties are still noticeable on the break and our defence will need to keep a watchful eye against stronger opposition."

Essex League, Premier Div
Harlow Ladies . . . . . 2
Romford . . . . . 1

HARLOW Ladies picked up their first victory of their Essex

Women's League Premier Division campaign.

Despite missing a player, the team closed the gap near the foot of the table with an impressive 2-1 home win against the bottom club.

The game began with Romford passing the ball about in confident fashion, but pressure from the tireless Georgina Esterhuysen-Smith led to the first Harlow break.

The hosts began to take the initiative through Rowena Ricketts' surging run down the left.

A short corner was finished at a post by Esterhuysen-Smith from a very narrow angle to put Harlow in front.

Romford were lucky to get back into the game when a high ball ricocheted off the unfortunate Anita Shearman into the path of the Romford centre forward and at close range keeper Laura Hay had little chance to make a save.

Harlow continued to push forward despite having fewer players, and were rewarded when a through ball by the excellent Beth Spencer put Emma Tweddle into the D for a shot on goal which was saved by the Romford keeper but finished on the rebound efficiently by Esterhuysen-Smith.

The feisty first half ended with Harlow in the ascendancy.

Harlow knew that with a player light they were in for a difficult second half.

Starting slowly, Romford pushed forward and there were vital clearances by Sam Care who at left-back has settled into the side.

There were also timely tackles by Sue Thomas and Shearman to keep Harlow in front.

Jo Chambers, returning to the side in an unfamiliar position at right forward, came close to scoring at the back post and also had a shot saved.

Player of the match Esterhuysen-Smith again went close to extending the lead and Harlow consistently probed down the left hand side through Ricketts and Esterhuysen-Smith.

The Harlow passing improved throughout the second half with the impressive Lara Horrax, Spencer and Tweddle keeping the ball well out of Romford's grasp.

The visitors were lucky to get a short corner in the dying moments and Harlow's lead was preserved by Hay in a final-minute stick save down to her right to ensure Harlow kept a deserved win.

Busy day for Bethell with two races

HARLOW Running Club member Jared Bethell completed a busy Saturday, running the Harlow parkrun during the morning and then the first round of the Metropolitan Cross Country League in the afternoon.

At the Harlow parkrun 5K Bethell triumphed out of 104 finishers in a fantastic personal best (PB) time for the distance of 17min 46sec, just six seconds outside the course record.

He was followed home by Ben Chitiyo (2nd in 19:11), Andy Terrell (6th in 20:54), Terry Ridge (9th in 22:04), Martyn Coulter (12th in 22:40PB), Anna Baker (18th in 24:04), Alan Wellbelove (26th in 24:58), Debbie Barry (39th in 26:24), Louise Cootes (48th in 27:49), Jeff Mace (54th in 28:54), Austin Nyamande (62nd in 30:47) and Darren Tiley (87th in 36:55).

Meanwhile at the Met League Cross Country race, held over a hilly five-mile course at Claybury Park in Woodford, Bethell once again led the way, as first Harlow finisher in 102nd place out of 427 finishers in an excellent 30:06.

He was followed by Rob Lowe (143rd in 31:05), Will Wall (314th in 36:20), Sean Flynn (348th in 37:51) and Richard Smith (370th in 38:58).

Leopards Thunder struck by back-to-back Worthing tests

LEVETT Essex Leopards will look to get their season back on track with the first of two successive visits to Worthing.

Saturday's game is the Big Cats' final one in the group stage of the National Trophy, and they need a win to keep their slim hopes of qualifying alive.

Thunder have won two of their four trophy games and progressed to the last 16 of the National Cup with a couple of victories against lower division opposition.

The game will give head coach Steve Ogunjimi the chance to look at the side his team open their defence of the division one title against seven days later; and Worthing Leisure Centre has always proved a tough venue to win at.

Despite only finishing seventh last season, Thunder were the only side to complete a league double over the title-winning Leopards, with their 58-52 victory at the Brentwood Centre denying the Big Cats a perfect home record in the league.

However, Leopards did record a 80-76 Trophy victory against the south coast side when they met in Harlow 13 months ago.

Although they need other results to go their way along with a win in Worthing to finish in the top four, Ogunjimi's team will look to put a disastrous night in Hemel Hempstead behind them as they were hammered 98-67 on Saturday evening.

The Big Cats never coped with Storm's outside shooting as they were hit with a barrage of three-point shots.

Their only lead of the game came in the first minute and despite a Brian Nguru trey on the buzzer, the visitors trailed 26-14 at the first break.

The visitors were 49-27 behind going into the half-time break, and although things improved slightly in the second half they went into the final period 71-46 down and were outscored 27-22 in the fourth quarter.

Justin Hitchman continued his good start to his first season as a Leopard with 19 points. Will Ashby added 12.

Leopards made the National Cup third round with a 99-57 victory at Barking & Dagenham Thunder on Tuesday evening.

Romans ban air raid siren

BATH City refused to let Hawks fans in with their Second World War air raid siren and drum for Tuesday's replay because it constituted a health and safety risk.

The intrepid Harlow duo who are nicknamed 'Mad Al' and 'Buddha' (pictured above) travel to most Harlow Town matches.

The air raid siren was actually featured in football magazine FourFourTwo this month when one clever scribe said Harlow's record-breaking goalscorer Alex Read had set the air raid siren off 'more times than the Luftwaffe'.

The air raid siren has been a familiar noise at Harlow matches, both home and away, for several years, usually blasted into action when the Hawks score a goal.

But Bath officials would not allow the siren and drum in and warned Harlow fans beforehand.

It was not the first time the pair have been told they cannot bring them into a ground.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "We make a lot of noise and 90 per cent of the time our fans out sing the others and make all the noise."

Health and safety

"Maybe that was why they would not let them bring in the air raid siren."

"They said it was a health and safety issue, but I don't know how that's health and safety."

"The supporters took it all the way up there. That was disappointing."

Bath City FC chairman Paul Williams said: "It was a decision taken by our safety officer Mr Morgan."

The other sour point was the referee's decision to ask one of the Harlow Town FC youth team players to leave the dug out.

The youngster had been allowed to travel up with the team coach, but was sent to the stands by the match official as he was too young to stand with the manager.

The draws have taken place for two other cup competitions. Hawks are still involved in.

Chapman's men will visit Vanarama National South side Concord Rangers in the third round of the Essex Senior Cup in mid-November.

Harlow's reward for beating Ware in the FA Trophy is a trip to Ryman Premier Division side Merstham, based in Surrey, in the first round qualifying on Saturday October 31.

Harlow are back in Ryman North action with two home matches, against Dereham Town this Saturday and on Tuesday they host Thamesmead Town.

reports from Twerton Park

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman accused Bath City of "sour grapes" after his side caused a massive upset to win their FA Cup replay on Tuesday in Somerset.

The Vanarama National South side - who play two divisions higher than Harlow Town - blamed the fact that they did not win the initial tie on Saturday because of the Hawks' 3G pitch, Chapman claimed.

He fumed: "They spoke critically about our pitch, but I thought their pitch was shocking."

"It was sour grapes. It was excuses. They have an advantage because they play on grass every other week."

Ibrahima Sonko and Alex Read were outstanding.

Read scored one and set up the other - he even missed a penalty, but it did not matter in the end.

Bath pulled a goal back in the last couple of minutes of normal time but brave Harlow stood firm.

I was hoping the Harlow players would be inspired by watching the film Cool Runnings on the team bus on the way up - although this was about the Jamaican bobsleigh team which crashed and lost in the end, so it was probably not the best example for inspiration.

Sonko, playing just three days after sustaining a nasty head gash which needed 13 stitches, rolled back the years with an outstanding display.

Harlow grew in confidence and stunned the home crowd by taking the lead on 41 minutes.

Junior Dadson's brilliant angled through ball put Read in the clear and he slotted superbly across goal and low into the bot-

For all Bath's pressure they created few chances and it was Harlow who almost grabbed a second goal, but Sonko's header was cleared off the line by Bath skipper Andy Gallinagh on 53 minutes.

Cyrus Gordon forced two good saves from Phillips, before the Hawks won a penalty with 12 minutes left.

Dave Pratt's clumsy challenge on Fabian Simms saw the referee point to the spot.

Phillips flew low to his left to make a brilliant save from Read.

With eight minutes left Bath came close to an equaliser when Frankie Artus shot from 14 yards was crucially saved by the feet of Harlow keeper Niklas Freund.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman sent on Lewis Perkins for Leon Antoine, who had worked tirelessly - although he certainly wasn't alone.

Inspired

And this substitution proved inspired as Perkins grabbed the second goal, just a minute after coming on after 84 minutes.

The superb Read played an exquisite ball to Perkins and he was through on the right side and drilled a superb low shot into the bottom left corner beyond Phillips.

Bath pulled a goal back on 88 minutes when Pratt struck out of the blue.

But Harlow held on through six minutes of stoppage time to progress to the fourth qualifying round and seal the £7500 prize money.

HARLOW TN: Freund 10, Pope, Eadie 10, West 10, Sonko 10, Simms 10, Dadson 10, Gordon 10, Read 10, Antoine 10 (Perkins 84, 10), Melaugh 10 (Benjamin 90, 10).

Subs not used: Prince, Gill, Knight, Taylor-Crossdale, Glasgow.

DANNY CHAPMAN praised his side's work rate as they more than matched Vanarama National League South side Bath City on Saturday.

Harlow Town led 2-1 thanks to goals from Fabian Simms and Junior Dadson, but the Romans' second-half equaliser prompted Tuesday's replay.

Chapman said: "I am really proud of what they have just done. One thing that was impressive today was our work rate. We worked so hard."

"Towards the end I was thinking 'we are going to hit a wall in a minute' but we didn't and we just kept going and going and going."

"That was really pleasing to see, but they are disappointed not to win the game."

Bath took the lead on ten minutes.

Defender Chas Hemmings drilled home from eight yards after a great run down the left byline from Nick McCootie.

There was a massive blow for Hawks just before the break as centre-half Ibrahima Sonko suffered a head injury after a collision with Bath's McCootie.

Sonko sustained a horrific gash and went to hospital for 13 stitches.

Out of the blue Harlow levelled just four minutes before half-time. A Lewis Perkins corner found Simms some 14 yards out unmarked and he drilled a low shot into the bottom left corner past the unsighted Bath keeper.

Harlow went ahead on 54 minutes as Dadson served notice of his incredible turn of pace which gave the Romans' defence no chance.

Perkins played a lovely through ball to Dadson, and he stormed into the box and tucked a shot into the bottom left corner past Phillips.

Sub Leon Antoine set up a great chance for Dadson but he drilled wide with the goal at his mercy.

And Harlow would rue this as the visitors were level just moments later on 66 minutes.

A shot from Ashley Kington was blocked but not held by Hawks keeper Niklas Freund and sub Andy Watkins scrambled in the rebound.

Chapman added: "We've given it a real go and if [Junior] Dadson put the chance away towards the end I think it's game over."

Chapman refused to blame Freund for the Bath goal which made it 2-2, and said the Hawks defence was equally to blame.

"Their goal - it was just one of those ones. It's bounced off the keeper and we've not followed it up. The fella has managed to put it in," he said.

After Sonko's exit the Hawks defence coped well and central-defender Sam West was outstanding.

Bedford Thunder . . . . . 40

THE Harlow Hawks opened up their Herts Basketball League campaign with a brilliant victory against new side Bedford Thunder.

Alex Hinds opened the scoring with a quick break away from the tip-off, before the Thunder answered at the other end.

The teams traded baskets in the opening minutes, as scores from Hinds and Tom White provided ammunition to the Hawks' arsenal.

Rimantas Norkeliunas provided his usual rebounding tenacity, out positioning defenders to give the Hawks extra opportunities to score while White, Mike Freeman and Mark Haddow showed off their shot-blocking prowess.

The Hawks built a modest lead, with the score 17-12.

A few changes from head coach Saul Friedner saw the Hawks burst out of the gate. Three pointers from Mike Freeman and Shab Niaz capped off an impressive 19-4 run.

Some excellent pressure defence from Richard Whytock inspired the Hawks.

A three-pointer from Dan Cohen and further scores from Hinds and White closed out the second quarter.

At the end of the half, the Hawks led 40-22.

In the third quarter, Lee Morris got on to the scoresheet with a three pointer and White continued to score effortlessly against the Thunder defenders, utilising the imposing inside-outside game that won him the MVP trophy last season.

Further scores from Norkeliunas capped off a 9-0 run, as the third quarter closed with the score 54-30.

Niaz amassed 12 points in the final quarter in an impressive long-distance shooting display while Hinds and Norkeliunas continued to score at will, wrapping up a convincing 86-40 win.

Harlow Hawks: S. Niaz 18pts, T. White 18pts, R. Norkeliunas 17pts, A. Hinds 16pts, L. Morris 5pts, M. Haddow 4pts, M. Freeman 3pts, D. Cohen 3pts, R. Whytock 2pts, S. Friedner.

Wasps sting unlucky ladies

HARLOW Ladies suffered a narrow 19-17 loss away to Wymondham Wasps in the RFUW National Challenge South East Division North.

The hosts scored two tries before Leah Dixon grabbed a try for Harlow after intelligently taking a quick tap penalty.

This cut the gap to 12-5.

But Wymondham went further ahead when their number eight broke free to touch down a third try.

However, the Essex side showed great spirit as Louise Jenkins notched her first ever try which Jess Costanzo brilliantly converted.

Brittany Stoneman, who had a superb game at full-back, scored her first try in a corner. But the long and difficult conversion was missed by Contanzo as the game finished 19-17.

In boys' rugby, the Harlow U10s travelled to Ongar and played three games.

The teams were split into Harlow Hawks and Harlow Harriers.

Harlow Hawks lost by seven tries to five against Ongar.

The Hawks then played the Harriers in a quick ten minute practice game. The players really relished this and the tackles and running were equally strong.

The Hawks beat the Harriers 6-3 with Archie Allen scoring a Chris Ashton-style swan dive try.

Man of the match was awarded to Joe Court, who scored some fantastic long-range tries, tackled immensely and never stopped working for his teammates.

Harlow U11s lost three matches against Ongar.

Injury-hit Harlow U14s suffered a 50-0 home loss against a strong Westcliff side in the second round of the Essex Cup.

Pirates at sea

HARLOW Hawks secured a 92-55 win at Thundersley Pirates in the Essex Basketball League.

At the half-time break Hawks led by 44-24.

Scores from Mark Haddow, Rimantas Norkeliunas, Lee Morris and both Mubbasher and his father Shab Niaz saw Hawks finish the game strongly.

Smith penalty seals win versus newly-promoted side

THE Rams maintained their 100 per cent record with a hard-fought win over newly-promoted May & Baker on Saturday.

Playing away from home and up the hill in the first half, Harlow faced an early onslaught as the visitors kept the ball tight and attacked around the fringes.

After ten minutes the pressure told with Harlow giving away a penalty in front of the posts, which was converted by the May & Baker full-back.

Harlow eventually established a foothold in game with some organised and disciplined defence forcing a turnover on the halfway line.

The Rams' backs worked the ball wide before Luke Bowering kicked ahead for Ryan McClone to pick up and touch down underneath the posts with 15 minutes played.

Harlow forced another penalty in the May & Baker 22. Danny Smith kicked the points to put Harlow 10-3 up midway through the first half.

May & Baker's relentless pick and go game was effective and some weak Harlow tackling allowed the opposition to make significant inroads.

However, Harlow managed to regroup in their own 22 and turn over the ball.

Moving it wide, Darren Hawkins ran 70 yards, but was held up ten yards short of the May & Baker try line by a prop.

Touched down

He still managed to find Bowering who touched down in the corner for Harlow's second try.

The rest of the half was dominated by May & Baker who scored two push-over tries with driving mauls to make the half-time score 15-15.

Harlow started the second half strongly and scrum-half Charlie Woodington converted this pressure into points with a darting run off of a Harlow line-out on the May & Baker 22.

Danny Smith converted the extra points to put the Rams seven points ahead.

The visitors struck back immediately to score their third try after 55 minutes.

With 20 minutes to go Alistair Phillips was put through when a gap opened up in the midfield.

The Harlow winger drew the full-back and passed to Rob Mackie who finished off the move.

But from a scrum, the Rams conceded another try through the May & Baker captain.

The visitors' full-back kicked the conversion to level the match at 27-27 with ten minutes to go.

Harlow pushed forward, piling on the pressure.

After three kicks to the corner Harlow were awarded a penalty in front of the posts and opted for the three points.

Smith was successful to put the Rams ahead with two minutes to go, a lead they held on to.

Harlow coach, Lee Harron, said: "It was a good result. I was really pleased how the boys fronted up in the second half against very physical opposition.

"We've still got lots of things to work on – especially our accuracy in attack.

"Our next league game is at home to local rivals Upper Clapton, who are also unbeaten, and we're looking forward to the challenge."

Harlow are second in the table.

The evening got off to a flying start in the 200m individual medley (IM), as Kirsty Vears set a personal best (PB) time of 2min 35.24sec to finish second after a strong comeback on her favoured breaststroke and freestyle legs.

Karl Batorski, fresh from his national success, smashed the opposition to claim an easy win in the men's 200m IM, dominating it from the start.

In the 9-11 years age group, both the girls squad of Carys Brealey, Freya Henshall, Emma Guerrati and Olivia Tarallo and the boys team comprising Max McAuliffe, Ben Stringer, Tyler Jackson and Alessandro Rioda won their respective 4x50m freestyle relays, the boys by a huge 13 seconds.

Hawks' Cup magic but boss says promotion main aim

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsexnews.co.uk

THE Hawks' FA Cup adventure has been a fantastic experience, but boss Danny Chapman knows promotion to the Ryman Premier Division is the be-all and end-all this term.

Harlow Town can now look forward to an Essex derby at Vanarama National League side Braintree Town in the fourth qualifying round a week on Saturday.

Having been desperately unlucky not to go up three times in the last four seasons, the Harlow manager knows he has assembled a side which is more than good enough to go up from Ryman North.

And this was clear in the FA Cup third qualifying round, as Harlow more than matched a Bath City side over 180 minutes, who play two divisions higher than them.

Triumphed

They triumphed 2-1 in Tuesday's replay, deservedly heading into the next round with a phenomenal performance after goals from Alex Read and sub Lewis Perkins.

Chapman said: "Hopefully we can progress and get promoted. The club needs to go up a division and hopefully we can do that this year."

The Hawks picked up another £7500 in prize money for beating Bath, with £12,500 available for the winner of the fourth qualifying round tie.

With mounting costs at The Harlow Arena, this money is vital.

"John Barnett [club chairman] and Tom [Cunningham, chief executive] have put a hell of a lot of money into the football club. This is a reward for what they have done," Chapman said.

The Harlow boss also praised the small band of Harlow diehards who made the long trip to support the team, including club secretary Ray Dyer who has been given the all clear after a heart problem.

"I would like to thank the supporters who made the effort. It's a long journey. The supporters were fantastic. It was nice to give them that result to go home with," he added.

Goalkeeper Niklas Freund also praised the fans. He said: "The fans are unbelievable. You think in non-league football there are not so many fans. But this club has got special fans."

In a night of high drama at Twerton Park, Harlow led 1-0 but when Alex Read saw a late penalty saved, hearts were in mouths.

Freund said: "As soon as he saved the ball, which was a good save to be fair to him, in my head we had to react as well.

"It's a momentum situation and we had to go at them. The gaffer made a good substitution. It paid off and Lewis [Perkins] scored a great goal.

"That penalty probably should have been scored but it did not matter."

Chapman was pleased with experienced defender Craig Pope's reaction to his team-mates after the penalty miss.

"His first words were 'nothing has changed - we stick to the game plan'."

The Hawks boss added: "It was one of those memorable nights. The whole thing was fantastic.

"Our discipline was incredible. We stuck to the game plan. We were a complete unit."

Speaking about the late substitution of Leon Antoine, which proved inspired as Perkins scored what ultimately was the winner just moments after coming on, Chapman had praise for both players.

"Leon was outstanding along with everybody else. A lot of people don't give Leon the credit he deserves.

"Leon has the work rate and the physical presence. Lewis is a different player, I thought I'd bring him on and he would keep the ball. His finish was incredible."

The Hawks boss also praised Read, galvanised by his penalty miss. "He worked his socks off all night. When his chance came he never let anyone down."

SAFE HANDS: Niklas Freund

Ibrahima's key role behind the scenes

NIKLAS FREUND revealed the key role Ibrahima Sonko is playing on and off the pitch to put Harlow Town in the right frame of mind to enjoy a successful season.

The 21-year-old German keeper admitted that in his role, more than most, a strong psychological grip needs to be maintained to avoid dwelling on any mistakes.

And former Reading centre-half Sonko has been a huge help for Freund in this area.

"Sonko is not only a great player - he brings so much more as a character as well," Freund said.

"I'm close to him. We have become friends and I have learnt a lot from him as a person as well.

"As a keeper it's not easy, mentally, lately I have made a lot of mistakes as well. He helps me and he helps me try to move on from things.

"He's a great character and a great person in the changing room. We want to keep him as long as we can."

Crucial

At 1-0 in Tuesday's FA Cup replay, Freund made a crucial save with his feet and this was a turning point.

But the honest Freund said: "I didn't see the ball. It was more instinctive. It was an important save. It was 1-0 then. They could have got the momentum.

"They didn't have too many chances. I'm very happy with the defensive performance and they deserve a lot of credit for this game."

Freund says the spirit in the Harlow camp is booming.

"Together we can fight for each other and together we can achieve a lot of things," he said.

"Everybody in the dressing room are friends with each other and it's one of the best teams I have ever been involved with. It's a great club.

"It's so enjoyable playing for the club and I hope I can stay here for as long as possible. It has this drive and potential to go up the leagues."

Sonko lives up to his 'Mr Superman' label

HAVING suffered a nasty head injury some players might have cried off from facing a tricky FA Cup tie just three days later.

But Harlow Town's former Reading and Stoke City centre-half Ibrahima Sonko played through the pain barrier and produced an absolute master class in defending with 13 stitches in his wound, which had to be patched up again at half-time and full-time.

No wonder Reading fans used to call him Mr Superman.

Sonko, 34, was phenomenal as the Hawks knocked out a Bath City team who play two divisions higher than them.

Goals from Alex Read and sub Lewis Perkins secured a deserved 2-1 win and an FA Cup fourth qualifying round tie at Essex rivals Braintree Town.

Sonko, forced off in the first half of the original tie on Saturday which ended 2-2 as he went to Princess Alexandra Hospital to mend the deep gash, said: "Tom [Cunningham] knows me. I have played through injuries at Stoke and Reading. I'm not the kind of guy who was going to step back because I'm injured.

"If I have a 50 per cent chance of playing I will be playing and tonight I was going to play. If it's going to happen, it's going to happen, I can heal. Why wait so long?

"Even before [in Saturday's tie], the boys stepped up their game. I was in hospital but I heard they were playing so well. "I was just buzzing to come back today. I wanted to show them support. We came into the game believing that we can do it.

"Tonight I thought if everyone's positive and everyone's doing their job we can do it. When we were under pressure we only conceded one goal in the late stage of the game.

"They did not pose any threat. They had a couple of shots which Niklas [Freund] had to save. We looked so much stronger. The back four and the goalkeeper with the two midfielders looked a proper, proper team.

"The people up front were doing their job. They said 'you guys keep doing your job at the back and we'll score the goals'. In the first 20 minutes I was a bit shaky.

"Ready [Alex Read] was playing so well. It was such a shame he missed the penalty, but it's football.

"We were never going to let that go. We were going to fight until the end. The penalty was not going to affect us.

"We knew from there he [Read] was going to do everything right and from there we just had to back him up.

"Lewi [Perkins] came in and scored. It was such a shame they scored because we were doing so well. But we were strong."

Hawks boss Danny Chapman hailed Sonko, who turned down a one-year pro deal at Kilmarnock to stay at Harlow. He said: "To have someone like Sonko will always give people confidence. Sonko was absolutely unbelievable."
